

UNITED STATES COURT OF APPEALS FOR THE SECOND CIRCUIT

SUMMARY ORDER

Rulings by summary order do not have precedential effect. Citation to summary orders filed after January 1, 2007, is permitted and is governed by this court's Local Rule 32.1 and Federal Rule of Appellate Procedure 32.1. In a brief or other paper in which a litigant cites a summary order, in each paragraph in which a citation appears, at least one citation must either be to the Federal Appendix or be accompanied by the notation: "(summary order)." A party citing a summary order must serve a copy of that summary order together with the paper in which the summary order is cited on any party not represented by counsel unless the summary order is available in an electronic database which is publicly accessible without payment of fee (such as the database available at <http://www.ca2.uscourts.gov/>). If no copy is served by reason of the availability of the order on such a database, the citation must include reference to that database and the docket number of the case in which the order was entered.

BOARD OF IMMIGRATION APPEALS,

Respondent.

For Petitioner: GARY J. YERMAN, New York, NY

For Respondent: STEPHANIE J. WRIGHT, Assistant United States Attorney, for

UPON DUE CONSIDERATION of this petition for review of a decision of the Board of Immigration Appeals ("BIA"), it is hereby ORDERED, ADJUDGED, AND DECREED, that the petition for review is DENIED.

Petitioner Zhi Da, a/k/a Da Zhi Ye, a citizen of China, seeks review of a June 9, 2006 order of the BIA denying his motion to reconsider. In re Da Zhi Ye a.k.a. Zhi Da, No. A73 171 691 (B.I.A. June 9, 2006). We assume the parties' familiarity with the underlying facts and procedural history of the case. We review the BIA's denial of a motion to reconsider for abuse of discretion. See Zhong Guang Sun v. U.S. Dep't of Justice, 421 F.3d 105, 107 (2d Cir. 2005).

The BIA based its decision to deny the petitioner's motion for reconsideration primarily on the petitioner's "fail[ure] to file the appropriate address form," holding that such failure meant there was "no error in [the agency's] decision to send all correspondence to . . . the [petitioner's] FDR Drive address which was on file."¹ This seems needlessly formalistic given that in prior correspondence the BIA acknowledged having "receive[d] the [petitioner's] letter setting forth his change of address to McDonald Avenue on September 12, 2005." We need not determine whether it rises to the level of an abuse of discretion, however, because we agree with the BIA's holding in the alternative that the denial of Da's claim for asylum and withholding of removal was substantively correct and the proposed appeal was without merit.

The central contention raised before the Immigration Judge ("IJ") was that Da's spouse was forced to undergo multiple abortions by the Chinese government. Even if this testimony had been deemed credible, we have recently held that “the fact that an individual’s spouse has been forced to have an abortion or undergo involuntary sterilization does not, on its own, constitute resistance to coercive family planning policies.” See Shi Liang Lin v. U.S. Dep’t of Justice, Nos. 02-4611-ag, 02-4629-ag, 03-40837-ag, ___ F.3d ___, 2007 U.S. App. LEXIS 16842, at *46, 2007 WL 2032066, at *13 (2nd Cir. July 16, 2007) (en banc). Because Da did not offer evidence of any other resistance to the coercive population control program, he would not have been able on appeal to establish past persecution under Shi Liang Lin. As to the brief testimony from Da to the effect that he himself fears sterilization, absent greater specificity, this vague and speculative claim is legally insufficient to qualify as an objectively reasonable well-founded fear of persecution. See Jian Xing Huang v. U.S. INS, 421 F.3d 125, 129 (2d Cir. 2005) (per curiam); see also Jian Wen Wang v. Bureau of Citizenship and Immigration Serv., 437 F.3d 276, 278 (2d Cir. 2006).

For the foregoing reasons, the petition for review is DENIED. Having completed our review, the stay of removal that the Court previously granted in this petition is VACATED.
